

It seems like your recent vote to lift the ban on cross-ownership of various media was done undercover of recent international events that have captured the attention of us all....including the media. I did not see a report on this vote in the sources I watch or read. One already has to subscribe to the few remaining independent magazines and other sources to get full coverage and commentary on many events and action by government agencies like yours. I do not see anyway that lifting this ban will serve the public interest...only those of large corporate interests. We need more, not less sources for the news, and more than ever in the face of recent events.
